

from Holly Melgard's Friends and Family

Chris // 2/5/11

hey dude it's me uh I just wanted to call and say thanks for having me over last night and thanks again for feeding me uh it was an awesome time and I'm so glad that we got together and talked for like eight hours um just really necessary though god eight hours um we should have recorded it as you mentioned um yeah I was just calling also to see if you guys got Tobin's email about possibly coming over and watching the Super Bowl tomorrow evening um we would love to have you I know Joey uh just has to watch the Packers I guess I guess it's in his blood or so he says um and also I hope he's ok I know he more than likely is but I just wanted to check with you and see that he was doing alright we were yelling at each other last night which never really happens and so um you know I fully integrated the thing into my consciousness and in no way am feeling like something was broken last night in any terms but you know I just want to make sure that Joey knows that it was all the spirit of the discourse and I wasn't really angry at him so I hope he's not really angry at me ok uh I love you guys and call me whenever you get this bye