The Poetry Project
Along the Superhighways of July

I miss your yellow
T-shirt yeah
You missed my birthday

My wintry hip fracture
At least I Think it was broken

It was cold and no
Ardent sun
Melded or mended

Me cut like that you Threatened
And had breath

Of summers to come Petrol, beach
Onion, heroin

I missed exactly
What your face
Beaming a parabola

Bouncing beams off the Keen edge kind Summer car window

Down you and your teeth
Sexy cut out Against clean cut grass
I Am Instructed in Techniques of Voyage

At about three am Local time
I pick up the phone

Some of the circle
Is suspension
Insects on the lens

Makes two insects or
The Double
Lens suspended by

My ear a ring I listen To and the Second I speak to

The second I speak
He knows that I am an American

Verb tenses are tough
On so many Tablets and I was Advised to take the Tablets to Control vertigo

A consequence of Our extreme high arc
High and might vomit

The voice belonged to A kind French
Official who did

Not speak any English
Moon setting
Some of the circle

Behind the viewer
As when you Stand inside a large

Mental circle gaze
Horizontally
Or hold a hula

Hoop around the body
Free hanging
Spring loops the body

If you could see light Passing clear Through and around your Head then you could see A second

Branch on the brain lens

Twin circles support
Each other
Elegant exposure

Of the hyperbolic
Structure so Often encountered

Rarely recognized
In everyday Life whether or not

You half expected
That phone call Struggling from smoke

Whirlpool of thick sleep
Crushed flaxen
In a French farmhouse March 2003, I Love You!

To say that it was Disbelief
Would understate states

An incantation
Of cosmic
Hyperbolae it

Was subtle as Bullet, boots
And old uniforms

Discarded by lot
Of turncoat
Terrified soldiers

Scared is its system
It aint broke
X-axis, sharpshooter

Cosmic bursting fix
Cosmetic
Wait I meant to say

Cosmetic because Hyperbola
World is your white-world

Everything on the Outside looks
Like frosted wampum

Ornament to buy
Cartesian
Space and real estate

I witness this and Still fall prey
To your shimmering

Device recognition
Disappears
Within white-out froth

Of storms makes March the Albatross
Of our calendar

Cold stone took all of That wet snow
Under a week spent

In ways I now think Led to war
Alone on the plane

It is a little Sobering
Prolonged snows may have

Held March or produced Broken hints
Casual shadow

On object plane I Fly overseas Wild strike in March of

That year both with and Against love
March! A love slave

March! Holiest and Most prolonged
Month! bundled forenoon

I ordered one more Tiny pink
Bottle of champagne

Thinking pink blossoms
No more snow
Chestnut flowering

Pinked and thinking Concentrate
Create poetry

That is your job for Now for March
Leave America

Fifth Marine Regiment
Fit some men
For coats and regard

That tiny act as Dreadfully Significant and Wild I make poems
About you
Fucking me over

A man in Diyala Cuts in rock
“Please bind up my wound”

Read this in Le Monde Knowing that My rendition from

The French is often Pathetic
I’m American

But can dope-out the Message means
Nothing like my heartache

Hangover yet connect A memory
From early childhood

2 days of lock-up Transgression
Unclear at the time

2 days no meals and Difficult Drinking, ham-fisted from

The bath room’s tiny Spigot and Then mother at last

With a baked potato Hidden in Her apron whistling

Hot me grateful but Angry at God for prying open

My heart to beg or Hope for food
Humiliating

Bastard and sobbing
Could not help
It choked on potato
Nothing so dry as baked Potato
And could not eat for

Choking so I thought
Be careful
What you wish for what

You beg for today
I recalled
In a supermarket

A little girl say “Mommy I Hate Jesus!” and the Mother, horrified

Asked “why child?”
“Because,” the girl said

“He thinks he is our Lord!” and I Understand her point

The secret is that
The zero
Is a circle and

A spring – as in coil Plucked twitching
To launch things forward

And arguably Represent Sentimental re-

Workings of yore, these Works, of which
Some portion is often

Encountered but un Stable and Critiqued the precise

Period being Critiqued is
All of it poised on

The zero launch pad
A spot where The Actual have

Ravaged me more than Once down in Mixed time rattled to

Some connected core Crazy con-
Nundrum for we bees

Approximations
Bees of wax
And wane be sacred

And profane at the Same moment
Of launch of rattled

Ship, shot or rocket Blasphemous
Self-talk as I am

Launched especially Forcefully
Into my future

That is the world in
To which I Was launched born into

Such a launch complex
They ate some Potato salad

And cold cuts looking Into equipment
White-hot rocket heart

Standing, chatting to Take it in Equilibrium

Or my mother took A shiny
White Librium fear

Of flight unchanging
Even if it
Was second hand did

She feel the circle sway That day? Or Hear him say “It is

A sad fact that because of comfort, complacency, a

Morbid fear of communism,
And our proneness to Adjust to injustice, the Western nations that in-itated so Much of the Revolutionary

Spirit of the modern world have Now become arch anti-Revolutionaries”
That still sounds
Ground-breaking to me

More than forty years Ago and I am disheartened

Hope flashed for a split Second but Hope does not cut it

You know cut the lead
On the spring
Zero potato

a. something lifted off the anhedonic floor

Bacon and body hair—substance, indeed, of news. My brother called on the phone. I could hear the music again. I needed to talk, but not now and not about poverty.

b. who rode the bus discovered in its wet heat the rumpus room of inflationary cities

I wanted to write every day but didn’t know why. It was all I could do to think about Sebald and this was painful to me, having been devoted to what was broken off, then modally restored.

My hair badly needed cutting.

The musculature that formed a band across my sternum twitched and was pinching me short of breach. Mother knows the names of small muscles. She took me, sometimes, to see the cadavers believed at the time of her training best to convey the true form of living persons.

c. thrown into silent wonder and adoration

Branch of affable. Upside down, or bowed, affability seconds the daring rescue. I could be a little germ of wheat. Oh goodness.

Grateful sharp, not low, for reading and being lettered under lamps and deeply affable at first light by turns cruel one beat nearly to death discovered and powered by rich shocks of leathery affable ladies ordered too off the Amtrak in cold rain and of walking across invisible track all covered by

David Walker’s Appeal, in Four Articles; Together with a Preamble, to the Coloured Citizens of the World, but in Particular, and Very Expressly, to Those of the United States of America, Written in Boston, State of Massachusetts, September 28, 1829

COLON

“I will give here a very imperfect list of the cruelties inflicted on us by the enlightened Christians of America—First, no trifling portion of them will beat us nearly to death, if they find us on our knees praying to God, —They hinder us from going to hear the word of God—they keep us sunk in ignorance, and will not let us learn to read the word of God, nor write—if they find us with a book of any description in our hand, they will beat us nearly to death—they are so afraid we will learn to read, and enlighten our dark and benighted minds. “

g. ice: or interference

I heard myself hailed, but ice was interfering. Every further day God grants delta equals spatial metaphor plus object of actual desire.

At Greenland, combustibles plus vast quantities of very high and curious mountains of ice, entrapment and immobility of highly particulate waters bounded by the horizon only in the latitude 81 degrees North, we was working to purify much farther than previously thought possible.

Black people make anything look so graceful, yet the execrable ice did hold me distressed, the fears of death hourly upon me, as I beheld the eternal dark pressing down the two floors of frigid topography and did obtain dim, shuddering glances into those Polar eternities of unsourced existence.

h. “This tradition is concerned with the opening of a new Enlightenment, one made possible by the ongoing improvisation of a given Enlightenment.”

I would not and I would acknowledge where trends in prostitution are headed. Bottle service dropped that girl on him. Whoo-hoo. Sound systems can be beautiful things I think of all the time and download trends procuring certain newer systems of accessing the high gender of half-hooker, which, check, Anyway, fire that bitch. Under her dress, inaccessible to meme GFE-tiger.

i. now to retell the history of women’s time

At least four women old enough to be my mother love Thom Yorke. Just rattled by these circumstances. Sex dropping off turns out to be a goddamned lie. Dependent on what is is. Other disciplines include total abandonment of hormone therapies thrust on me relentlessly since puberty.
Easter

I hate Easter
The trees fill out before you know it
The tree doctors arrive
They cut down some limbs and eat their lunch
I’m glad spring is here to save the day
I’m not looking beyond the elms
A different country vanished Motives are still unclear, perhaps nuclear Unknown movie still They needed books but not progress
I’ll wait for the next Christian holiday for progress Cold enters the lucky room
Chilling the birds
They have television
Today is an open casket kind of day
There’s something to say about The Book of Elephants Elephants should be followed
Not because they have long memories and mourn their dead
But because animals feel safe when they’re around It's Your Dime

Someone has reserved this fire for you Here's a pan of water
It's a conversation not worth having So let's have it
They're here with the carriage Get in It's all so inanimate
There's a character building seminar
At the Center for Vacancy
You move freely among working stiffs who have no time for foolishness
All hold hands in a “human circle”
Facing outward
Aware of the flashes
Women’s work
Piled on the sidewalk waiting for distribution
They haven’t lifted a finger yet
Those stick figures marveling at the mammoth begonias
In the balance of the afternoon light
But you’re wasting precious momentum
While the sun goes down on you Mimic

At any other time in history
My first impression of you would have been more detailed
I haven’t recovered
I expect to Cover my eyes, move me to where it’s shiny
And cooler than ever
Then the refrigerator was carted away
And I tossed my veil into the fireplace
The sun went down and came right back up Now it’s on my face with all its might Silence
I spent all that time hanging out at the trade show
Finally I was sold as one of those bibelots Plaster egg, ceramic dog doo doo or some such Minutes from resolution Terrified of the meandering path
That peters out near the courthouse Local Color

Turn here on this tree lined street
Passing through a Veteran’s Day Parade
The floaters come on Shift after shift
Then a blackboard with words
The writing punishment
That’s why you came back
A little bird told you Grain fills a coffin
Life support they call it Some adages you live by others you die for The street continues, waiting for a human touch
You sit on a pyramid of watermelons Giving out with the best and worst of popular song
Far from the classics now Spitting out the seeds
Feather Your Nest

Clouds craze the sky
Toppling people at the intersections
That’ll learn ‘em
Slow down their obsessive patternmaking
You rise and perform beautification
A burst from a hydrant
When voices stop listening to the air
Anything is possible without loss

Unmanned Minerals

All geo-empathic indications to the contrary, your children's children's children's children will be hanging around someplace. It might resemble the landscape you see situated before you. Hot as shit, (taking into account local variation), semi-non-permanent, some earthenware, knuckles and dirt. Adjectives, if they still exist, will include skulking, nasty, portable, blasted, cunning. Flash floods return the sheet rock to itself. Everyone will be a gypsy. Toss yourself a coin, roll another number. Unmanned minerals make no attempt to address this future. They are the material reminders of the ancient superstition of the earth. Rocks, deposits, swirled extrusions, there for you to cry on; rocks, rough, womanish rocks. The objectives of unmanned minerals are A) to provide you with beautiful names to toss around at one another, as an alternative to dirt clods, names like Chalcedony and Mica; B) to warn you that gold and silver are generally to be considered curses, though it must be noted that the pursuit of these cousins does result in spectacular holes and gaps; and C) to refute as strongly as possible the notion that time is an arrow, or that it points from the head of a given person. Here's an example of our superstitions: millions of years ago, your children's children's children's children fell down from the mountains and were piled up in marshes that became the chinle formation. The sediment buried them, and the silica laden waters infiltrated the flesh, duplicating its structure cell by cell, becoming jasper, agate, and amethyst. Treat yourself and your children accordingly. If you extract parts of yourself, perhaps to deposit in one of your relatives, what chunk of you ought to come out? If, as the skilled minerals declare, we are only carved out of our invisibility to the implacable things which are really present, it follows that it is as important to know what has eroded away as it is to know what has remained. There are no field trips June through August due to the desert heat, so if you wish to consider such slow phenomena, you might consider other times of the year. This might be obvious.
Cryptozooscopy

And what don't you see, since we're north of any south you yourself can contain? What burning things aren't present? Free to take homes & land? A little something to collect in a ziplock bag? Aside from all the intimate junk laying around, there have been recent interpretive sightings, a zebra, huge rats, a particular human pig suckling its young in a particular microhabitat, as yet to be verified, inconclusive, sometimes eaten, foundling, parahuman. When the wildlife kills the fire, your eyes shift from the sun to fire's changing face, to flammable dense stands of animals. You rub your eyes. In the long backwards view of the place, the fossil assemblage and the scant brush quiver, and a previously unknown creature inhabits your sleep the way sand inhabits your mouth. Remnants of megafauna might be skulking, you never know, eating the pods of the mesquite over that rock formation, underneath that contrail. With the aid of science, perhaps they walk the earth again. There have been some exotic studies, which have shown that nonnative deserts have come to dominate this community of animals; researchers have found a buried gorilla costume, which focused their attention on the intangibles. Unlike most native grasses, animals in jumpsuits have learned to talk their way out of many different situations and can create one huge landscape, filling in the plant-free space that once separated animals, fire, heat, lungs and eyeballs with decoration and money. This process results in questions, which fly in the changing face of the desert: how close do you want to get? Can you drink dew? Can you drink the water between particles of sand? Are you subject to vandalism? Not yet maybe, but soon enough, when you become a creature with cactuslike adaptations, you will find yourself among the invisible animals, in the shade or something; let's have a look.

Moving Day

for Greg Purcell and Joel Craig

I hear and wear the dead. The temple of my head.
Do you take your past very seriously? Are we separated really?
Inside me there are ranges and voices too.
The dead in my body or call it memory.
They say, actually it’s one place with different rates.
One body range red revving it was so you could hit the high note.
Night and knives. One range: gas flame and flower blue.
We choose then we forget. I know of no perfect zone.
Nothing’s ever done in one. We mess up, then what? Then again.

What is the soul is the thing removed. Devalued.
Who is you is how you fought to keep it. Or lost it.
I fight infection with a bandage. I needed to close the hole.
It’s to keep pollution off the sore. A sore inside.
Wish, skittish, intent upon propel. Get me out. Oh hell.
Down we ski, let’s be free- let’s just see-What malarcky. I trust the fall, a human degree.
They are above me- I cannot see only hearing;
it could be a trick so get in closer, shoot the flowers, a rash blooms anyway

I've lost my anchor, I'm adopted by another side I cannot hide. There are unhelpful abstractions to avoid, the meaningless malignant. Weed thought. Weed feel.
Remember, everyone gets by, by a breath, slim margin.
Meaning barely.
Never mind the arguments piling up.
Never mind which side gets the killer lovers.
The high pitch cry of a new born alone. Red again.
It reminds of alive the pitch becomes an image the image becomes art above a fireplace. Seen and heard rarely to keep the price high.

Pictures for the castle propagation and takeover.
Unhelpful abstract zap. Of course there is a war So-called poor already know. Non-participants who would not buy futures in cutting machines, guns and were stunned and I am too afraid to breed.
Who could resist the club or the gun? I thought it would be better to forget and now I have to think again.
They don't say, help me, I'm angry. They took him away.
Another villager saw the corpse.
Seven bullets. Have you reported?

Did they ask all the correct questions?
They only came to record the case. They're just remembering what happened. A large blood-stained piece of cloth. It was a hot day but the crime scene does not appear to have been handled correctly. Gradual annihilation of tribes. Conquest, disease leaves 2-3% remnant. The anger of all indigenous people is concentrated: "Our position is we don't want any part of your conflicts.

No political going, no old Spain, no coacoa for cocaine. We reject them all. We are enemy of them all. And we will not be your messengers." The castle moves laterally. An iceberg slims and germs assert. When you care, you get angry. When I care and I am drunk I get angry otherwise I am sad. Sorry to make this personal. Showing is low, I confess, Confession is low seditious, why else the words committed? Why else the words with someone else?

There will be no real investigations. Just another dead indigenous person. We are a tight knit community and we suffer for it everyday. What remains is communication, our feet still touch the earth. Our tombs still holds our bones. And I'm told the binding will have to go. The bandage. My best defense when I had no mind with body and now unraveling I read the walls and reflect. Earth, Air, Fire, Water aka bone, breath, bile, saliva. Element five. The light.
And movie music strumming me; tuning breath through the head. Anyone of this wavelength can be briefly air head, light foot, etc.

On reentry there is a certain loss, vague depression. It's an inner exodus, one flutters incapable of confrontation. Frustrating to see it and not be able to say on one's own behalf: Stop bothering her! Stop with you future eating your death spread. Stop killing everything that wants nothing to do with you! The Ghosts are laughing, another swig. And why don't you plant something useful like a tree? Glug, glug, you crack the skull, well, the shell, well... ghosts. Aghast, glowing and maybe my hold up. Ghosts tightening the girdle, the ghost of a girl-Probably you know or will soon: it's annoying being alone and brokened into.

My indigenous. Impinge? Should I just not move? Somehow I can't. I smart, I dance for a dime. Any chance a lay-a-bout could get a job? Any chance someone like me could make it? Is it worth it? This fervor for work which is future conflict? The fervor, phew, let me tell you. I'm tired just watching you. Are we digging or filling I forget? So this is the how to and LIFE? Yikes! One proves one can fix by fixing. Right? So we fix ourselves, ourselves who resist and anyway Poetry isn't supposed to make money because that would be counterfeit.
And the fits go this way- clockwise.
Fixing, first I must work on the time.
And no it isn't digital because:
One, two, three, four, five, six, seven.
Eight, nine, ten and plus some and some again.
I'm nervous, have taken pills for sleeping.
The vibes are, I'm sorry I walked away from the accident.
Well, I didn't do it. Before, they took him,
I waited with the hit man. The other one ran.
The hit man's blood actually gelled. Hell. The sore.

It's embarassing that I didn't go into the ambulance that it didn't occur to me to stay with him, or anyone at all. A demon screams.
Leave her alone. Oh shut up. It's vertical time.
VERTICAL TIME! GET UP!
Get your intention as if no judgement you could imagine.
As if your known good the only good and what you went by.
Endless forgiveness may be beyond this.
No I don't think, my guess is we are each each other but better than jellyfish.

Or better yet, I remember the jets, the one overhead.
Bullets in the chest by the time I wanted to defy death.
It was like a taming game. What is with these jets?
If I get clobbered, do NOT feel you have to ride in the ambulance with me.
If you want me with you, if you, God forbid, get creamed, tell me obviously now. Please be obvious and blunt about desire. And I will.
The last weapon I held was blunt. It wasn't mine.
Er, I mean, it was for agriculture.
Learning about aggro a small scale operation.
Something easy and organic.

I want to want and be wanted naturally.
Everyone too, right?
Am I a contestant? Representing?
Do I need to prove my earth work?
Extract not the metal, I say.
Clay's less an invasion to take. Then the bake, then brick.
Voilà this will work for a house.
Should I dance the argument? Take off stays?
What now? Here have a ball, practice with him.
Ooh him, hello. People make me nervous but let's go

Don't worry he can't hear you.
After practice we exchange tasty jokes about babies.
It's to test the new. It's accurate to the fear.
It's accurate to caring, in a way. Art is kids stuff.
Poets confess. The many voices are not them.
Hey partner, puff, puff, kick, I am not my programming.
Get a load of this: one, two, three, zero- uh-oh:
FOUR,
FOUR,
FOUR THE NUMBER OF SALT
THE NUMBER OF THE EARTH
FIVE IS JIVE. MARS IS RED AND DISCS WE THROW SIX IS SOUL YOU WILL NEED HELP
SEVEN THREE SPIRIT PLUS THE FOUR OF EARTH
Perfect number, shuffle the deck.
I can understand proximity but it isn't easy.
8 splendor, blessed silence; can't yet 9 change. Transformer me.
Man in make-up. Me and nothing the indigenous sees a ridiculous babble.

It's like smoke, the dark cloud coming down.
Message: a thunder drums the earth, says, TEN:
We want to ride the horse, we want to love the other one we want to hunt and sometimes play our way.
The circle round the earth. So we live, we hunt, we pray.
We fight until the very last breath.
I fight for the breath.
The child inside me I try not to ruin in spite of what has happened, in the desert of cast off clothing

Inside the silicon a movie show Indigenous ghost recording. I read a bandage.
The producers of this myo-pic can seem cruel but that is their humor.
I reread a bandage and hold it up so you can see.

It's today I want to memorialize but how can I? What is there to it?
—James Schuyler

Painters argue vehemently against this that blue doesn't exist without its word, where we take it as an article of faith. I still believe in current events, language, morning, civic languor. The weather as important as anything we talk about it non-stop

— it's cerulean
or its non-sky color

matter in the symbolic universe of a day. Magazines pile in the anteroom of the shrink's office. An editorial states it would take no less than a revolution in the structure of family to bring about true feminism.

But the ladies have so many choices now they wear high heels. They wear sneakers trot to work on uncompromised

feet, while the hours empty themselves in the humid subway cheap chocolate blooms from age in its wrapper on the newsstand. Through a series of soundproof doors, a Hasidic woman enters the reception
her husband exclaims

“You look better, much better.” For the shrink’s receptionist rudeness is a religion but today, she’s cheerful agrees, wearing a sweater with a rhinestone noose bedazzled on the shoulder. She’s nothing if the not the guardian of my sleep in which she says, “start recycling your home-made pornography your fantasy life is dying.”

But I’m awake in the thick of our newly-affirmed liberal democracy, which is sort of like when you can’t feel Spring except for the Linden trees—their smell of Clorox and semen

A flowering that doubles as the new year aging
Lots of books disappear in the move all the flip-flops get left behind in a trash bag I get here and have no house shoes, don’t know where to buy milk I’m awake again in the cold morning,

The years get written on the backs of pharmacy receipts:

—buy cat food and trash bags
—separate movies and records
—clean the bathroom
—pack papers, letters

—burn sage, then sweet grass a non-epic accretion of episodes facts lovers friends crowd out night silence. Noise, not unlike music from another time invades the room.

I'm here without the convenient fiction that 'I' is a character

The reception
is the imaginary 'before'
of a workplace
For today
I'm the receptionist
I keep time
I take calls 'today' is artificial as soon as it's written today passes into infinity

The internet doubles as sleep. The phone keeps talking and talking and talking as if Manhattan still existed was becoming the poem. My malcontentment a factory for tomorrow's entertainments. We watch a show about work at our desks, but t.v. Ethics are something you can really get behind.

Heat

Back in the heat of the kitchen Arousals casually explained a rush: when people come in how he crudely “forms a fin; a whole school” in the flipped mirror of your eyes

moss made to look like a river (in the video) of Wanderlust

Can shimmer like a sheen caught in the wind craving a landscape

Splayed under the sun

Something else to the stone

(for Rosmarie Waldrop)

The voice opens to the body but the body cannot keep the voice

I thought it were otherwise my hopes were crushed by this knowledge

Outside, a crowd unbuttoned into exclamations exposed himself a voice can cling to you like the ancient are contained in something trivial, with no intention in the middle of a sentence & pacing back and forth

Their eyes had seen differently creating a path now for the moon just beginning to come up in these books I have called my home & morning somewhere else

I hear his voice takes where a wing would form

In another myth he’d have swallowed the sun.

His horoscope said it would taste like any other fruit, when I thought it was more like an egg he was about to crack.
Skin

what wills unfold gilded on a glacier in utterances common and insincere the news is a déjà vu

Glass that orchestrates a long division

I saw him get into a blue van

I think the eyes are a museum of salt drying on his lashes as he slept & I serve underneath into which he sails in & wets his beak in my stream of “single men and their single meals”

Cheering the team into an embrace

And if you remember it extends

Biswamit Dwibedy
Dear ______.

In the morning the trilling is part of the ceremony you may skip the polishing line and the smell of burning rubber above it all the hanging magic of a wrecking ball hang onto me as things lose their definition injunction to tell the story under dim covering of trees the scene slackens had I invisible thread to tighten it
a few rules to break like instant affection for something strange in a dream or the easy command of thought into action turning you out of your cave that’s the news from my street
Last Night

Last night I threw up and fell deeply in love first kiss in a featureless landscape hundreds arrived every minute tension before a storm I floated over to touch them crowd held back at the little door they’re looking for work they’ll take anything we’ll get to know them in time
I’m responsible for the meanings I’ll need enthusiastic subtitles scrolling below for this modest love story looking down on the avenue before returning to the thunder and clouds
The Hills

In the aftermath of unsolved problems come new problems rising in an adamant tower to topple the rest, a leveling of curls on shoulders in a self-mocking skit children make mud effigies of themselves the man who appointed himself our mascot left a sack of apples for the painted horse in the hallway lacquered fruit of dreams but on your feet head for the hills where the light falls unevenly in these lascivious times death is somewhere telling its story people are attentive gathered at the fragrant edge of things we’re not there we’re far away
among the sum of our parts down by the old mill stream Bianca

To the laser cut silhouette of a goose on the periphery of goslings take this ice cube as a sign of things to come put it on this rock to melt with the simplest of wishes it is the sky not life that must be emptied look into it using the common parlance that gets you in anywhere dopey with worry present nevertheless Sympathy Card

An unexpected thumping and the power leaves the room, pecans fall from the sky you may die again if it pleases sitting on irregular shapes with other breathing figures but die as you might each moment passing on its flashcard you’ll fail and I’ll tell you why it’s only a waking dream you can’t imagine any other kind by day in the insinuating sun you require a mask to follow rationally each illogical thought out to the burning tip of nothing from Metaphysical Licks

Uncertainty

Challenge
Show us the distinctions. Greta’s leery, I am empty. While they’re remodeling the other one. They favored symmetry over eccentricity of expression. The voices huddled, nobody bought smoke. The cement rose up in hopeless protest. Childhood head bands, German bread stuffs, amputees on dollies. My intention no entailment. Great fatigue split the votive. Then it spluttered. Nor am I sinning. Remorse tugs on my hair.

Gestural Prayer
It rubs my scalp. Then it scratches it.

Knotted Hair
Now am I am being bad. So you should stop it. Once the mother combed Greta’s tangled hair, inflicting torture. Something about an imperative. Philosophical hygiene. The connections ball up is a bad fate. That’s what they say. But intension wavers. Time for mute shirt buttons. Though the hair could get caught on them, if it were longer. I think you should cut it off. Aka out. Out means quit it.

Melancholy
Or of branches.
She coughed, he sang: stentorian.
Pain in the head from banging it against the wall.
Awkward mortification or accident.
To put to death the other projects.
My brother stole something.
What did he steal?
His name was—
Do not do that.
Or too close.
Incest of homophones.
I don’t know if I can go on with this, says she.
Grégoire?
The ugliness of their arms in the sun.
The light the form of judgment.
Lost faculties.
Dry hands, or dank.
Or loaded the white vehicle backward.
Mortification of accident.
The mother’s voice.
This machine not mimetic but stony or fluid.
Pale green of spring of hospital.
But the girl can’t cure anybody.
Alone on threshold, watching masks.
Their voices rise.
Like trash.
The trees lie.
Black shroud on building.
I don’t care.
If this hopeless.
I favor it.
Vows Grégoire.

The Siblings
Greta, her brother Georg, her brother Victor, her brother Haakon, her brother Gregor, her brother Lukerl.
The girl had five brothers, as in a fairy tale.
The flower is not blue.
Yes it is.
The flower is a boy flower.
The girl is a boy flower, like her brothers. But different.
Therefore the flower is yellow.
Therefore the flower is not blue.
The father’s name is Antoine, but he is like a brother, therefore Antonius. Or Gregorius.
The girl has six brothers, as in a fantasy.
He was erroneously associated with a flower.
Then she lost her petals.
Later it was spring.
Later my head hurts.
Bursts?
When meaning and truth are brother and sister.
I thought faith and truth were.
Then faith lost its petals.
The cliché of the flower in a poem.
I don’t care.
Or she wants to die, be plucked and pressed flat in a book.
Vow his flatness.
Or his cold metallic look.
Like this machine.
Or her flatness, of affect.
The people rejoice with the coming of spring.
Up here, she clings to her ice cliff, it is red-faced.
Red.
Yellow.
Black.
Green.
Stay away from brown, blue, silver,
What if unable?
From crimson, yes.
Maybe.
You should not stroke Georg’s words like this.
But a sister.
The siblings.

Commandment
Oblique the story.

Closet Qua Heaven
Seven minutes in.
Teach the brother or let the brother teach you.
Brother means boy.

Mystery
Change the story.
The story changes itself.
Contradictions versus indirection.
The figure of the story appears at twilight.
You run away from it.
Confession
It is not true anyway.

Miracle Whips
Do it without looking? This is new. Some ideas sat three inches to the left. Fold your arms like cards. Or those sheets with the tiny pink flowers. A super nova into a vestibule. Elevator of eyesight. They have pledged to thieve my view. I moved my legs so I could be a circulation desk. Some generator generates. Left eye abraded from trying to improve itself. Stale bars of music. Robert Schumann with some problems. They disappear if you don’t look at them. You only look at them because you like to look at them. You are addicted. A less literal bona fide. Different eclipses. Ungrammatical interloper. Still there’s some meaning. It could be hidden. Dizzy recalcitrance. Lapsed path clicks. Lisped pathetics aka comics go mano-à-mano with Søren’s speculative buskins. A shout of work! It goes on in the series of teeth. Each item is perfect. Barcode head paralysis. Floundering fits the mood lighting. A window exhales orange. Thin filaments of regrets meet altercations in a pawn shop. They used to fix Adam’s apples there. Only one thing can save us. The true son of God walks on words. First, a scourging. The back gets lashed so you won’t be yellow anymore. I could be a Chinese boy. Is the injection of yellow an insult? Inspecting the sample won’t help. The topic of the appearances, i.e. phenomena, i.e. presentations. Philosophy flips a switch, the light bulb goes on or it blows. This is my room. I am in my room, so it is not in me. So it isn’t the pure visual room. There exists no pure visual room. I am Victor, a Chinese.

Fraction Vs. Infraction
Mistake of idle rhyming. Evening aphorism of the buzz saw. Incomplete is something else and worth a pamphlet. Anton Webern’s ear plugs. I have to try to extricate myself from the logic contraption of before-it’s-too-late. Romantic totality conniption. Or be affectless and impassive of the face. I have a rendezvous with the Deity. But the expression could also be a fortification: skin of a double negation. Indirection is infinitely. Sonic curtains. Let them eat fakes. Let me eat flakes. A noble’s title: the not-imperative. Meanwhile, childhoods clattered below my meditations. The next one is the world. Solve the system of equations for x. Or scratch the system. Loose connections crackle if they don’t pop. Unless it is just that there exists no absolute certainty. Instead, vulnerability tablets. With metaphysical coatings. Then the question of depiction. What divides what? What subtracts what? What adds what? What’s a multiplied table?

Comic-Pathetic Intermission
I think I understand now. But it is really dark in here. Also, I am hungry.
Webster’s Catatonic Secret Mission
Schizophrenic stupor, negativism, rigidity, purposeless excitement and abnormal posturing. My brother Victor Trakl as a clerk.

I Blew It
I blew it.

Asymmetry
Where is the old fountain?

At Stake
If I leave, I shall not return.

* Station
At the new pen. Or the shift lock fled hospital. No supplies. I was gone for so long. Unpolished crack-up. Supposed to learn how to say suffering. Instead, reflexive action verb. They stopped Georg who wasn’t Grego/Gregor/Gregory. Who will be my comrades? Or psychiatric clinic. Further observation. Gregor means watchful. I was Grégoire unless Mina. Or Grégoire, a girl. Thrust in like a long tongue. It distorts the shape of the makeshift language. Then the words piled in, they needed me to attend to them, they were wounded. Harrowing experience of the aftermath of the battle of Grodek. After math, a different foreign language, e.g. German. Its music. One-on-one. The older man/teacher/private tutor. But his name was Markus, which connotes Tristan. I’ll teach you with song lyrics as if from some opera. Three pens: brother, son, holy sister. A Trakl opera? Or Webern’s young songs. It took three days for them to bury him. But he is no evidence of a universality. But she also did cocaine, like the father who was the brother. Versus sleeping pills. Opposed ways to complete yourself. Till means until as in fight till death or before. It comes from strive after, get, cultivate. Like Bildung or Bildungsroman or Bildungslyrik. Or Unbildungsroman or Unbildungsroman. The building across the street is acquiring a brick red zippy sweatshirt. There will be blood here. Before, I pretended it did not exist. Then his sister Grete coughed some up. Or my skull leaked. Will Greta and Victor still exist, so many months after falling silent? Then the words led everywhere, like in a field of magnetism. Field, feld, felled, felt. The function of the artist is to express reality as felt. The Ab Ex stamps saved us yesterday. Before that, we were dying. Maybe already dead. But till is also sprout, stalk. Especially from the lower or base part. Then the motif of plants, because it’s spring. Like being 26, only you feel older. Or 16, a girl’s party, all the songs about deflowering. Or 36, only you feel younger. High-pitched youth culture of the throat. Re Bildung: rebuilding discourses. Or guitar licks. That’s why they call me a young man. Proof me when I try to enter the electronic music, buy coke. I mean vodka. Krakow. Why won’t this stamp be polished off? Also how I got included in that task/homework. Those were the first poets I fell in love with. So why couldn’t I be learning that? I promise to be learning that! Station, goal. Because in fact, they hate you. Fie fief field fiend fierce fiery. It all spilled out so easily like blood, I decided to bleed to death on this manuscript, I started with a paper cut. If you position it correctly on your wrist, you can manage it. The myth of self-expression. The myth of no self-expression. Being a consciousness doesn’t mean saying I think but it means an I is thinking. But the I is just awareness, not a fixed character like some letter or the letter you could write to your father, a brief. But farm/Georg comes from fix, make firm, firm. Yet also from rent, lease. Or raising corps I mean corpse I mean crops I mean cropped hair because he joined up as an orderly but was all alone tending to their suffering and could not, could not. Because it hurts too much because of suffering. Georg is a farmer or land-tiller or tiller of the soil but soiled and infirm and land is goth like Twilight but akin to church and to enclosure but you can’t be/remain enclosed because of all the suffering but then how can you be a church? Spiritual adjectival questions as of wandering, homeless, unlanded. Or crash landing. Or I’m crashing. The Medical Corps. The corpus of work such as writing. Then meditating on the mind/body. And brother Lukerl. Further the question of the will. Also of being in the military, like the uniforms I had in high school. After math. After myth. After miss. Dead or dying. Or confined against his will. People think that I am 27 like Georg. Fearful of being sentenced to death by Court Martial and increasingly suffering from depression. Georg fled to death.
