

Today

Each year I know less about myself
but the insurance company knows how much my life is worth.

This is for those who suffer & endure & laugh about it later.

Someone asked, "Where do you get your news from if you don't have a TV?"

It is 7:36 a.m. & I have been awake all night. I am pushing forward,
caffeinated & reminding myself:
don't be busy. Busyness is the enemy of art and life. Spring is here, it is Saturday. The clouds make shapes & go.
